- Bobbi Ford gave a presentation on the Personalized learning Endorsement. The purpose of this endorsement is to prepare educators to use the principles of personalized learning in their teaching practice. Billy Hues, Caitlin Dooley and Patricia Wallace from Georgia Department of Education and Anissa Varga, Staphanee Stephens and Traci Reddish from Kennesaw State University joined her.
- Kristina Stroede gave a brief legislative update to Commissioners. She announced that Commissioners would receive the update by email in the next couple of days and she gave directions on how to read the spreadsheet and how to track bills. The update is intended to include all education bills other than local legislation or bills celebrating or recognizing individuals, organizations or the like, as well as any general government bills that might impact PSC. The update will not include most tax bills, even though some have implications for education. Due to the volume of bills, it is possible a bill may be left out inadvertently. The update should give Commissioners a general idea of what is under discussion in the General Assembly related to education.
- Chair Report – a) Chair Luigs announced that at this time she has not heard from the Office of Governor Kemp on the status of the Executive Secretary’s position. The Governor makes recommendations. These recommendations are given to Chair Luigs at which time she would convene a meeting of the executive committee to vet the candidate(s). It is the Commission’s responsibility to vote on the appointment of the Executive Secretary; b) The American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education (AACTE) will recognize Kelly C. Henson, former Executive Secretary with the Georgia Professional Standards Commission (GaPSC), with the 2019 David G. Imig Award for Distinguished Achievement in Teacher Education, at its 71st Annual Meeting, February 22-24, in Louisville, KY. She gave the Commissioners a copy of the press release that tells more about Mr. Henson's distinguished career and contributions; c) The GaPSC hosted its annual 2019 edTPA EPP & P12 Equity Summit on February 6th, with a focus this year on culturally and linguistically responsive pedagogy, held at Middle Ga State University, in Macon. The dialogue will continue by examining the specific equity indicators in edTPA related to student assets, deeper learning, and differentiation at the March 7th and April 18th meetings of the edTPA Virtual Professional Learning Community; d) Penney McRoy received an Exemplary Service Award from the Georgia Educational Leadership Faculty Association which is a member organization of
